DAY 01 OF 05

HIP RESET

Open what pickup locks.

GOAL
RESET

TIME
15–20 MIN

01

Open your hips, reduce stiffness, and give your body a foundation worth building on. Move slow on every rep — this is not a conditioning workout. No pain. If something pinches, back off immediately. This is about control and position, not effort.

WHY THIS DAY

I learned the order the hard way — you work one link and the next one starts talking. We start at the hips because that is usually where the chain gives first.

RESET BLOCK Breathing + hip mobility first

01 90/90 HIP LIFT BREATHING

2–3 × 4 BREATHS / SIDE

Exhale fully at the bottom. Let the hip melt. No forcing range.

02 ADDUCTOR ROCKBACKS

2 × 6 EACH SIDE

Slow and controlled. Stop at the first sign of pinching.

03 GLUTE BRIDGE ISO HOLD

2 × 20 SEC

Drive through both heels. Squeeze at the top. Breathe through it.

CONTROL BLOCK Stability and hip loading

04 ASSISTED SPLIT SQUAT

2 × 5 EACH LEG

Use a wall or rack for support. Stay tall. Front leg working, not collapsing.

05 STANDING HIP SHIFT

2 × 6 EACH SIDE

Slow lateral shift. Feel the hip loading. No rushing — the glute catches the pelvis.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

↑ Less stiffness in the hips ↑ More control through range ↑ Smoother, freer movement

FOCUS Move slow — every single rep. No pain. Back off if it pinches.
